DISTRICT ATTORNEY FERRELL AUTHORIZED TO APPOINT NEW TRAFFIC COMMITTEE AT MEET

Causes of Highway Accidents Outlined At Redwood Parley In Effort To Cut Down Huge Death Toll

One definite move came out of the county wide traffic parley called at Redwood City, Tuesday evening of this week. District Attorney Ferrell was authorized by motion to appoint a temporary committee of nine persons to outline organization and procedure for a proposed safety council which may at a future date be appointed by the Board of Supervisors.

The past grand jury and traffic committee were lauded for the preliminary safety work which they accomplished. The new committee, which Ferrell announces he will appoint in the immediate future, will continue the program and work toward the establishment of a county body vested with authority to act in traffic matters.

CAUSES OF DEATH

County officials, dozens of city officers representing metropolises and towns from Palo Alto to the San Francisco county line, police patrolmen, members of service organizations and women's clubs attended the meeting to discuss the causes and remedy of highway deaths.

Speed, disobedience to laws, carelessness and natural highway hazards such as medial friction at the center of four lane highways were blamed for the major number of fatal accidents.

ARMY AND NAVY PLEDGE AID TO BRIDGE FIESTA

Colorful Military Fanfare To Be Paraded At Golden Gate Span Opening

The fullest co-operation of the Army and Navy in the Golden Gate Bridge Fiesta next May, celebrating the opening of the span across the famous Golden Gate, was pledged this week by the Ninth Corps Area, United States Army, and the Twelfth Naval District, U. S. N.

Plans are already actively under way for the greatest military and naval demonstration in the West during the fiesta. The entire army troops and facilities are to be at the disposal of the Fiesta committee.

Crissy Field, within the Presidio military reservation, and adjacent to the bridge, will become the center of much of the elaborate pageantry which is planned for the Fiesta.

It will also be the terminus of the spectacular day and night parades that are to be held, and grand stands will be erected there and along Marina boulevard to accommodate thousands of persons.

$25 Damage In Brisbane Fire

Fire, originating from an overheated fire place, damaged the house owned by J. Carrigan, 680 Sierra Point road, to the extent of $25, Saturday evening of last week.

P. Lyons turned in the alarm at 11:30 p. m., and firemen, who were at the time holding their semi weekly dance, responded. Apparatus arrived in time to extinguish the blaze before any major damage was done.

Salada Water Co. May Take Fire Dept.

To meet current expenses and satisfy a deficit which exists in the account of the Sharp Park Volunteer Fire Department, it was suggested at a Salada water meeting, Thursday evening of this week, that the water district take over the fire department.

Due to the rapid growth of Sharp Park and vicinity water service bookkeeping has become involved. Clerk Donohoo requested that an adding machine be purchased to facilitate his work.

THREE VICTIMS IN FIRST BRIDGE AUTO ACCIDENT

Cars Crash Head On Near Curve East Of Island Tunnel

Death stalked for the first time, Sunday of this week, on the new San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge to claim the lives of three persons, one of them the father of a Burlingame woman. Three others were seriously injured in the crash.

THE DEAD

Frederick Meyer, 67, retired Currie, Minn., banker and hardware merchant, father of Mrs. Alexander Doonan of 117 Park road, Burlingame.

E. B. DeGolia Jr., Oakland, son of the prominent bay region capitalist who was chairman of the citizens' bay bridge committee.

Miss Agnes Healey, Oakland department store advertising executive.

THE INJURED

Alexander Doonan, 36, Burlingame, manager of the Peninsula Stores, Inc., possible head injuries, severe cuts on face.

Mrs. Doonan, his wife, shock and bruises.

Mrs. Amelia Meyer, 62, Mrs. Doonan's mother, possible internal injuries, shock and bruises.

Condition of Doonan and Mrs. Meyer was reported as "fairly good" today at Berkeley General Hospital. Mrs. Doonan was at the home of her brother, O. P. Meyer of Oakland, district manager of the Peninsula Stores.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer came to Burlingame shortly before Christ-

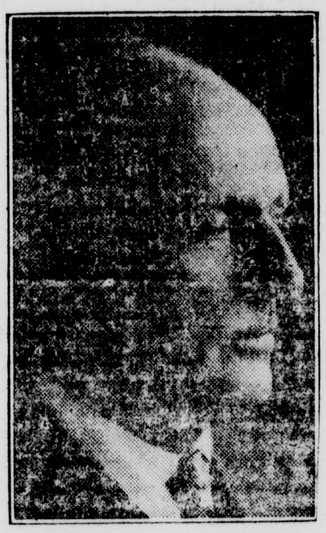
PRESIDENT BALL TO BE HELD AT TANFORAN CLUB

Mayor Selmi, Arthur Bodien, Chief Reardon and W. E. Pitschke Serve On Local Ticket Committee



JOSEPH V. GAFFEY
Burlingame Postmaster
Birthday Ball Chairman

Led by mayors of peninsula centers, residents of this district today were pushing plans for participaton in the fourth annual President's Birthday Ball at Tanforan Club House, Saturday, January 30. Police Chief James Reardon, Arthur J. Bodien and W. E. Pitschke are functioning as a local ticket sales committee.

With an expected attendance of some 4000 persons, the committee in charge of the affair have reduced the price of tickets to only 75 cents this year. A cash door prize of $50 will be given away and numerous awards and favors will be distributed.

Mayor Selmi is a member of the

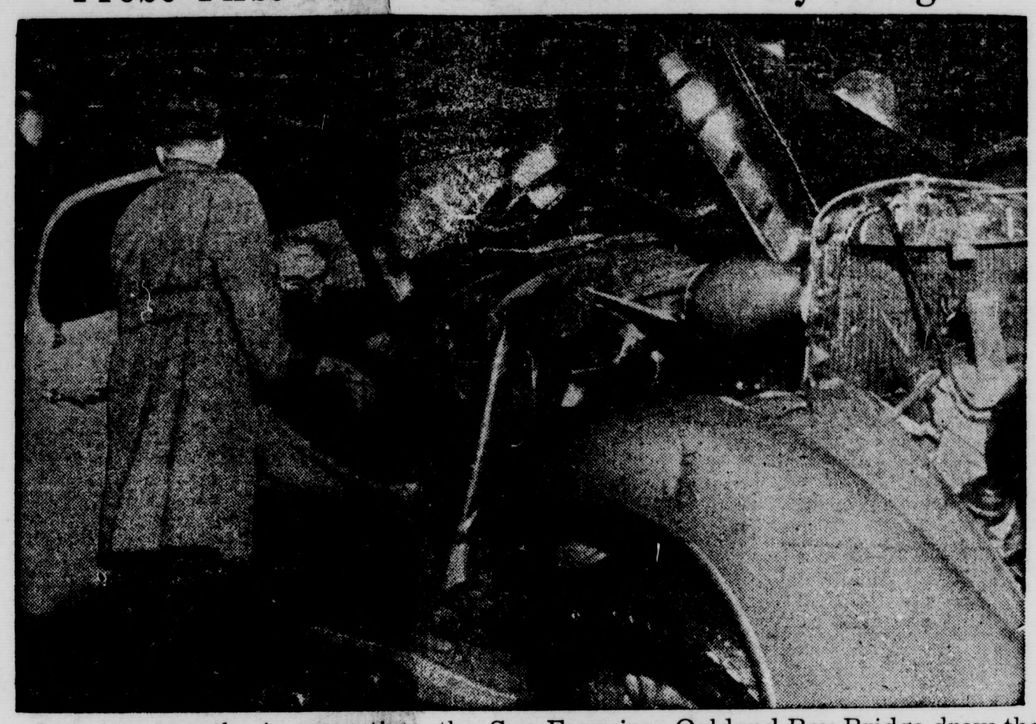
Probe First Fatal Auto Crash on Bay Bridge



Just two months in operation, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge drew the spotlight of inquiry recently in its first fatal auto crash, in which three persons were killed and three others critically injured. This dramatic photo, taken a few minutes after the head-on collision, shows one of the victims as he slumped unconscious in the wrecked car. He died a short time later.

SAN MATEO JUNIOR COLLEGE ANNEXES JEFFERSON AND HALF MOON BAY H. S. DISTRICTS

Protest Petitions Handed Supervisors By South S. F. And Sequoia

In the first definite step toward a county wide junior college district Jefferson and Half Moon Bay High School areas were automatically annexed, Monday of this week, to the San Mateo Junior College District.

Petitions protesting automatic annexation of the South San Francisco and Sequoia Districts were laid before the Board of Supervisors. The petition for Sequoia bore 3706 voter signatures, and 650 protestors were indicated on the South San Francisco listings.

ELECTION DATE

February 2 was set by the Board of Supervisors as a special election date, at which time voters in the Sequoia and South San Francisco districts should poll their choice as to whether or not they shall be included in the county wide jaysee move.

Monday of next week the board will pass a formal resolution annexing the Jefferson and Half Moon Bay Districts, since no opposition to the merger was voiced from those quarters.

Bayshore Water Case In Court

Bayshore, represented by its attorneys, Meurice Swim and A. Hoffman, has on file in the superior court a suit attempting to force the Public Utilities Commission of San Francisco to sell water to the city.

Councilmen have waged a long battle with the directors of the Dimond Public Utilities in an effort to take over their water rights. Recently Bayshore City paralleled lines of the Dimond Company with new pipe. Since that time the city has met stiff opposition to its ownership, and as yet there is no water in the new mains. The present suit is a step in the fight for ownership and operation.

It is believed the intention of the city council is to acquire water rights in the Schweirn Addition also, once difficulties in the Dimond Track are overcome.

NOSE INJURY

While sacking coal, Saturday of last week, at the S. P. station in San Bruno Frank Valentine suffered a severe nose injury when a hook fell from the scales and tore open the right side of his nose. Four stitches were taken in the wound.

Youth Suicide Death At County Line

At first believed to be a murder case, the mystery death of a San Francisco youth on a Hunter's Point hillside near the San Mateo-San Francisco County line has been established as a suicide, police report.

The body was identified as that of Fred Antony, Jr., 21, of 1490 Van Dyke avenue. He had been shot twice through the abdomen and once through the head. In addition to a pistol lying a few feet away, other evidence that at first led to the foul play theory was a heap of burned matches which had charred his clothing.

However, police learned that Antony had bought the gun a few days ago at a pawnshop. The matches, they declared, had been in his pocket and were ignited by a bullet. Further, he had apparently shot himself, twice in the abdomen and then pressed the gun against his head.

The motive is believed to have been worry over failure to obtain a better job. He was a candymaker.

Breakwater At Half Moon Asked By Club

A resolution, asking support from state and county officers and civic organizations for the installation of a breakwater at Half Moon Bay, was passed, Monday evening of this week, at a meeting of the San Mateo Western Progressive Club.

The project, according to the club, should be built with funds furnished by the federal government.

Appointment of a committee was made to investigate the advisability of joining the San Mateo County Federation of Clubs.

Logamarsino Again Before S. M. Court

Ray Logamarsino, Colma "bad boy" and former Alcatraz prisoner, was arraigned before Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton, Monday of this week, charged of escaping from the San Mateo County jail. Date for sentence was set for Monday of next week. Percy Jackson of Burlingame was named attorney for Logamarsino.

Joseph McGuigan of San Francisco answered to a charge of holding up a Daly City grocery store and date for his trial was set for February 3.

Guy McGowan, 33, Redwood City plasterer, pleaded guilty in Judge Cotton's court to a charge of hit-run driving and asked for probation. Probation Officer Francis Robinson will make a report January 25.

DON AMES

We could compare Roosevelt's great power to that of Hitler or Mussoulini, but then we would not be doing Roosevelt justice.

The American people voted Roosevelt his power. But unlike European dictators, our president does not wish to crush the freedom of the people.

On the contrary, he is supporting legislation to give the citizens of these United States greater freedom —economic liberty and social security. Never before in the history of this country have the people felt so much power being centered for their common good.

Since the Roosevelt administration first came into being, business of the nation has taken a decisive turn upwards—and it is still climbing.

School Annex Grant Application Made

Board of trustees of the Visitacion Elementary School District, Brisbane and Bayshore, will apply to federal PWA offices in the near future for a grant in order to build an addition to the Bayshore school.

Recently, with permission of the State Board of Equalization, the board levied a tax on the district for additional work at the Brisbane School and for installation of a new heating plant and erection of an auditorium at Bayshore.

PEDESTRIAN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE NEAR JFFERSON

Former Daly City Resident Killed When Struck By Bayshore Driver

Killed during a rainstorm at 12:30 a. m. Monday of this week, John Furch, 50, former Daly City resident, boosted the county death toll to four persons since January 1.

Kenneth Hayden, only witness to the accident, told this story to police:

He said he was driving along Mission street about 12:15 a. m. Monday morning when he saw Furch on his hands and knees on the pavement, attempting to stand up.

He drove several blocks and reported the incident to Police Officers Arthur Dalton and Wilbur Sunderland. They immediately went to investigate.

OBSCURED BY RAIN

According to Hayden, he was following some distance behind the police car, driving slowly in the center of the street because of the

S. F. Board Sets Transit Meeting

Hopes for rapid transit boomed again for peninsula commuters, Tuesday of this week, when Mayor Rossi urged approval of the proposed $52,700,000 system as first on the nine point program outlined in his annual report to the Board of Supervisors.

At the same time the San Francisco supervisors set January 21, for a joint meeting with the San Mateo board at which time the Peninsula's needed rapid transit link will be discussed. An effort will be made by the local group to have the Third and Townsend streets station and "Plan X" terminal link included on the ballot when transit is submitted to the voters of San Francisco.

Lower Hetch Hetchy Rated Okehed

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors again took steps, Monday of this week, which indicate an eventual cheaper Hetch Hetchy water rate to peninsula users.

At their meeting Monday afternoon, the supervisors voted 9 to 1 to slash wholesale rates from 19½ cents to 18 cents per 100 cubic feet, in accordance with the plan of the Public Utilities Commission. The rate applies to users consuming in excess of 330,000 gallons per day.

The supervisors also listened to the plan of Utilities Manager E. G. Cahill to approve appropriation for $260,000 for constructing a pipeline from Redwood City to Mayfield.

With the reduced wholesale rates and with the pipe line, Cahill said, San Francisco will win five new customers for Hetch Hetchy water. Chief among these are Palo Alto, Atherton and Stanford. These cities, he said, will need service this summer.

The five new customers, Cahill said, will increase the water department's revenue by $80,000 a year.

Here's Swell Game for Flu Victims—"What's His Name?"

MAYBE it's not a very good game but anyhow it's better than the flu and so the nurse, the doctor and the patient can play it.

All you do is remember some nickname that once was spread across the sports pages or was otherwise familiar to thousands of cash customers at athletic arenas. Then you laugh fiendishly, while your playmates try to recall the baptismal monicker of the party associated with it.

For instance—But probably you have a good sports memory, too. If so—What's His Name?

1—The Honest Blacksmith.
2—Americus.
3—Silent Mike.
4—Canada's Boy in Blue.
5—Old Smoke.
6—The Boy Plunger.
7—The Boy Wonder (Billiards).
8—The Boy Wonder (First of the numerous baseball heroes with that nickname).
9—The Molly McGuires (baseball team).
10—The Wizard (Billiards).
11—The Black Archer.
12—The Indoor King.
13—The Whoa Back. (Just to make the jinx number more complicated this is a football play.)

Now if You've Not Peeked Here Are the Answers

For the benefit of those who have not peeked the answers are printed below. Some easy ones were inserted here and there but those getting 10 correct can award themselves medals and go to the head of the class.

1—Famous prizefight referee and generally credited with being the first referee ever to enter the ring wearing a dinner suit.

2—Gus Schoenlein. A very good light-heavyweight wrestler of 15 years or so ago.

3—Silent Mike Tiernan. A pitcher who became one of the greatest of all time right fielders. He played for the original New York Giants.

4—Edward Hanlan, who was born in Toronto in 1855 and became the greatest of all single scullers.

5—Another of the names for the Hon. John Morrissey, who won the American heavyweight championship in 1853, was elected to congress and provided Saratoga with its first high-class gambling.

6—Riley Grannon, one of the most famous of race-track bettors. When Henry of Navarre ran that celebrated dead heat with Domino, Riley had 100 G's riding on Henry.

7—Willie Hoppe.

8—Arthur Cummings. As early as 1868 he was advertised all over the country by that name and for the fact that he was the only man in the world who could make a ball curve. It was a sweeping outcurve and he pitched it for, among others, the Famous Stars of Brooklyn at the old Capitoline grounds.

9—The Cleveland Club's name in the days when the eminent Deacon McGuire was manager.

10—Jack Schaefer, Sr. Greatest of them all at rail play, once having run 3,000 points on the rail without a miss and the run unfinished.

11—Isaac Murphy, most celebrated of all negro jockeys.

12—Jay Eaton, one of the most noted bicycle riders of the Nineties.

13—Stagg invented it so that Chicago could beat a well-favored Michigan eleven, 15 to 6, in 1900. It consisted mainly in having a pusher back of the fullback in plunges through the line.

His friends insist that the dearest ambition of Branch Rickey, very able head of the St. Louis Cards baseball syndicate, is to own the Brooklyn Dodgers . . . When the celebrated Wall Street and Washington expert, Dan McKettrick, was a fight manager he used to drink the contents of the corner water bottle before his boxer had gone four rounds. Just got nervous and couldn't help it . . . If, thirty years or so ago, a young law student had not been offered $50 to pitch a ball game, Gene McCann might right now be a member of the Maryland Bar instead of a very able Yankee scout.

Cecilia Colledge, tops among the British amateur figure skaters, is teaching Yankee lasses a trick or two they never understand. By insisting that she is entering the movies strictly on her acting ability she retains her amateur sports standing. And, by the same token, she can continue to get pretty publicity because of devotion to her hobby, amateur skating competition.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE:

UNLESS he receives the $15,000 which he is more than worth, Van Mungo probably will be baseball's toughest 1937 holdout . . . Joe Louis pays no rent in Chicago. The Bomber and Marva recently moved into their own building, a six-suite apartment house which Louis purchased with his bit from the Schmeling affair. . . Myer Aaronson, all-New Jersey high school guard last year, is high scorer for the George Washington university frosh basketball team. . . George Read, the celebrated turf clocker, used to train game cocks and once conditioned a start that was undefeated in 11 battles.

Senator (by personal nomination) Wild Bill Lyons carries a cane that is, in reality, a Winchester rifle. It is a gift from Mrs. James A. Farley, wife of Bill's pal, the Postmaster General . . . Big Bill Dwyer, the turf and hockey magnate, once was an usher in a theater. . . Fight Announcer Harry Balogh has a tough time pleasing his rival bosses. At the Hippodrome he wears a dinner jacket, per orders. At the Garden he does not wear a dinner jacket, per orders. . . Tex Rickard, who built the Miami Beach dog track, died the night it opened.

Bookies who squawked all summer about how tough the grind was in New York are having easier going at Miami. About 25 of the better known price makers are assembled there and, although Tropical Park is decorated with numerous signs prohibiting bookmaking, a whisper, a wink or a gesture does wonders. . . The best prospect on the N. Y. U. frosh basketball team is Bobby Lewis, who played for the championship DeWitt Clinton high quintet. His brother Normie is co-captain of the Violet fencing team. . . . Johnny Kilbane, former featherweight champion, is active in promoting amateur boxing in Cleveland. . . That town, by the way, is erecting a new 16,000-seat indoor arena and plans to be represented in the big time hockey and pro football leagues next year.

Springfield college has instituted community singing between the halves of its basketball games. . . Basketball, incidentally, seems to breed iron men. Johnny Moir, leading scorer of the Notre Dame team which will attempt to repeat against N. Y. U. in New York in February, broke his jaw in a recent contest. One game later he was starring against Northwestern. . . Boxing's latest mystery is—"Who snatched the pen with which the signing was done for the Braddock - Schmeling match?" It belonged to Deputy Commissioner Joe McOwen and when last seen was in the hand of the Garden matchmaker.

Gehrig Wants to Spike Myth About Fondness for Eels

Lou Gehrig wishes someone would spike that eel legend. Says he hates the damn things, never did like 'em and that everywhere the Gehrigs go the hostess invariably comes up with a special dish of 'em. . . They say Frankie Frisch traded Rip Collins because he observed the fellow climbing up into the press box one day, clad in uniform and clamoring for a chance to get off his story to a Rochester newspaper. . . . Is there some more bad feeling on the Red Sox because Business Manager Collins went over Field Manager Cronin's head to appoint Bing Miller as coach?. . . Lew Young, six foot six inch center, has resigned from the Wyoming university basketball team in the strong Rocky Mountain conference. Said he "needed a better job" in order to continue in school.

Lou Gehrig

Would an investigation reveal that Schmeling's end of the forthcoming purse already has been assigned to a New York promoter? Not, of course, to avoid surrendering the $25,000 good faith forfeit the State Athletic Commission has demanded. . . . Dr. Thurman B. Rice, director of health education in Indiana high schools, says that basketball is being overemphasized in his state. Also says this is resulting in a neglect of other sports and is a condition that will carry over into adult life. . . . Sixteen different jockeys won the first 16 races at Tropical Park. . . . The Giants' Horace Stoneham, youngest of big time baseball club presidents, once was a mechanic at an auto race track.

Col. Jake Ruppert estimates his baseball holdings at $7,000,000. . . Mel Harder, Cleveland pitcher, recently underwent treatment for ulcerated teeth at Rochester, Minn. . . Babe Seibert and Eddie Shore played side by side in the Boston Bruins' lineup all last season without speaking to each other. . . All the heavyweight boxing champions of England, since Jem Mace, are still alive.

One more Moore in the National league would make a ball team. Right now the Reds have Dee and Lloyd Moore; the Cardinals Herb and Terry Moore the Bees Gene Moore; the Phils John Moore; the Dodgers Randy Moore; and the Giants Joe Moore. . . the longest steady "sewing job" in hockey history was the night Helge Bostrom, a Blackhawk, had 126 stitches taken in his instep. The job took three hours.

State To Give Job Tests

Sacramento.—The State institutions have vacancies for cooks, laundryman, laundress, laundry helper and groundsman and flower gardener and will hold examinations to obtain eligible lists. The examination for laundryman, laundress and laundry helper will be given February 6 and the other tests will be given February 13 in Sacramento, San Francisco, San Diego, Los Angeles and at institutions as the number of applicants warrants.

Holohan Gets Old Senate Seat

Sacramento.—After a 23-years absence, James B. Holohan of Watsonville, former warden at San Quentin, returned to his old seat in the Legislature as a member of the Senate. In 1909, Holohan was elected to the Senate from Santa Cruz County, serving a four-year term. He was returned to the Legislature last November and last week was assigned the same seat he occupied 27 years ago.

Compulsory Insurance Urged

Sacramento.—Compulsory public liability insurance for all operators of automobiles and commercial trucks will be provided in a bill which Senator Ed Fletcher of San Diego County proposes to introduce early in the session. "Only 30 per cent of the automobiles and trucks operating on our highways at present carry such insurance," Fletcher stated. The insurance would be handled through private companies.

Prison Site Suit Started

San Bernardino.—The State has started condemnation proceedings to acquire a site between Ontario and Chino for a new State prison for first offenders. The site is 1300 acres of of the old El Rincon land grant which was chosen from more than 200 possible locations within 200 miles of Los Angeles. The committee has $400,000 avalable to purchase a site.

$100,000 Sierra Club Proposed

Auburn.—The erection of a $100,000 club house on an 1,800-acre tract of land embracing the Ice Lakes, in Placer County, looms as a result of negotiations between Dr. J. G. Mackey, local surgeon, and Commander C. E. Edwards, of Mare Island. Edwards heads a group of service men who propose to establish an Army and Navy Sierra Club.

Prospective Fathers Get Care

San Francisco.—Care and attention for prospective fathers, as well as mothers, will be in order at the San Francisco Hospital under instructions issued by Health Director J. C. Geiger, A rest room, comfortably furnished and suitably decorated, will be provided for prospective fathers in the new maternity unit of the hospital.

Bay Bridge Toll Cut

Sacramento.—Effective February 1, the toll rate for the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge will be reduced from its present 65 cents to 50 cents, Governor Frank F. Merriam announced. The reduction was made possible by action of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, holder of bridge bonds, in reducing the interest rate on those bonds.

Liner Carries Papal Flag

San Francisco.—The papal flag was carried on the Pacific Ocean for the first time since days of the Spanish galleons when Archbishop J. J. Mitty, sixty bishops and priests and more than 250 pilgrims sailed from here for the thirty-third international Eucharistic Congress in Manila. The flag was carried by the Japanese liner Tatsuta Maru.

Hoovers Send Regrets

Palo Alto. — Former President and Mrs. Herbert Hoover sent a formal note of regret that they would be unable to accept an invitation to attend the inauguration of President Roosevelt on January 20.

Baby Born On Ferryboat

San Francisco. — An unexpected pasenger arrived on the ferryboat Redwood Empire when a six-pound girl was born during the boat's run from Sausalito to San Francisco.

Drunks Work On Woodpile

Tulare.—"No work, no food" is the rule of Police Chief Locke, who sends men unable to pay their fines for intoxication to the city woodpile. The wood goes to families on relief.

State Printing Plant Busy

Sacramento. — Almost $1,400,000 worth of printing was turned out last year by the State printing plant, according to State Printer George Moore. He looks forward to a far heavier production in 1937. In 1936 250 employees were paid salaries totaling $450,000. Moore expects to cut down the net legislative costs during the current session through a new law permitting the sale of printed legislative matter. Hitherto, it has been distributed free.

Study Silversword to Solve Hawaii's Botanical Puzzle

Rare, Beautiful Plant Interests Scientists

WASHINGTON. — Silverswords, among the rarest and most beautiful of Hawaiian plants, constitute one of the world's prize puzzles in botany. Scientists of the Bernice Bishop Museum in Honolulu and of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, under the leadership of Dr. David D. Keck, have lately been making a new effort to get more definite facts about this spectacular plant's kinships and origin for it is believed that through such data new light may be shed on the still greater scientific riddle of Hawaii's unique forms of plant life, unlike anything else in the world.

The silversword forms a ball-like cluster of narrow, sword-shaped leaves, white with a silvery coating of hairs. From this basal rosette there shoots up a three to six-foot flower stalk, thickly beset with blooms. The plant is a member of the huge botanical family known as the Compositae, which includes such familiar things as sunflowers, dandelions, artichokes, thistles, goldenrod, and lettuce.

Not American Ancestry.

It has hitherto been considered more nearly related to the tarweeds, found on the Pacific coasts on both Americas, but Dr. Keck's researches now indicate that it is not, and that the silversword is more nearly related to the tree-like composites of Hawaii, a very remarkable group of plants whose nearest kindred are found far southwestwards across the Pacific, in Polynesia and the Australia-New Zealand region. The elimination of an American ancestry of the silverswords, and their assignment to an origin in a diametrically opposite direction, is considered an important step in plant geography.

Modern Baking Is Freed From Trial and Error Method

LONDON.—How to tell what kind of bread a variety of flour will make before starting to bake it is told in recent researches by two British physical chemists, Drs. P. Halton, of the Research Association of British Flour Millers, and G. W. Scott Blair, of the physics department of Rothamstead experimental station.

The "shortness" of a dough determines many characteristics of a finished bread or cake. By determining this ease of tearing of the dough in a mechanical way it is hoped to bake even better products than those that "mother used to make," without depending on the highly trained judgment of an experienced baker.

Scientists have attacked the problem by learning something about the fundamentals of baking. They have found that a short dough—one that tears easily—has long. heavy fibers.

Novel Test Devised

To determine shortness accurately, they use an instrument that tells how easily dough will flow through a nozzle when the pressure that pushes it is increased. Using this tester, they find that they can make the dough shorter by adding lard, iron chloride, or a phosphate, and less short by adding amino acids. Most peculiar of these acids is cystine, which makes the dough fibers hang together by hooking the long, thin molecules in strands like a series of rope ladders.

The tests are more sensitive than are those of the baker, and more accurate. Furthermore, they are resulting in changed flour characteristics so that the finished product can be rigorously controlled.

Molasses Has High Nutritional Value

CALCUTTA. —Molasses, cheap by-product of the sugar industry, has a higher nutritional value for human beings than the pure crystalized sugar that is sought as the principal product, declare Drs. J. C. Pal, N. M. Roy and B. C. Guha of the Calcutta Institute of Medical Research. They state that molasses has a notably high content of vitamin B, and C, and of calcium, phosphorus, and iron.

Breakfast the Event for Which People Are Most Often on Time

Studies in Punctuality Made in a College

BREAKFAST is an attraction to which the average person is most often on time. To band and choir rehearsals he is late about half the time. Business appointments are met punctually about three-fourths of the time.

These are not guesses or estimates. They are based on stop-watch measures made secretly of the students at Ripon college by Dr. George J. Dudycha and the few members of the faculty, sworn to secrecy, whom he took into his confidence. The stop was kept hidden. Notes were made in code. In general, the peculiar behavior of a man who insisted on making notes at breakfast, at football games or entertainments as well as at class was dismissed without comment and with little notice by the students.

Not only do the different situations call for a more or less strict adherence to punctuality, but they also call for a greater or less amount of promptness or lateness, Dr. Dudycha found.

Earliest of Entertainments

The crowd gets together earliest at entertainments (where the best seats are at a premium?). They come moderately early to breakfast and vespers. They manage to get there just on time for an eight o'clock class or a business appointment. They are generally slightly late to extra-curricular activities.

Nevertheless, despite all this variation in punctuality for specific situations, a significant association was found between an individual's promptness, or lack of it, on the different occasions. There really is a general trait of punctuality or of tardiness, Dr. Dudycha concludes in his report to the Archives of Psychology. The laggard may not be late on all occasions, he may show up early for breakfast quite often, but still in general it may be said that he is chronically tardy.

The punctual student is likely to be more intelligent than the ten o'clock scholar. The less neurotic students and those who are more self-sufficient tend to be more punctual.

How Nerve Messages Are Transmitted by Electricity

NEW YORK.—New light on how you think—the electrical means by which messages are transmitted through the nerves of the body—was presented to a meeting of the American Physical society here.

Drs. Kenneth S. Cole and Howard J. Curtis of the department of physiology of Columbia university's College of Physicians and Surgeons described the new experiments on this most-baffling of scientific problems. They said:

"The exact mechanism by which a nerve transmits its message is not understood at the present time, but it has long been known that a nerve impulse is in part at least electrical in nature.

Measuring Electrical Properties.

"In order more fully to understand the process of excitation it is necessary to measure the electrical properties of the nerve in the same way as it is necessary to measure the electrical properties of a wire before its current carrying ability can be predicted. This paper reports such measurements on resting nerves. It was found that the membrane surrounding the individual nerve fiber offers a high resistance to the passage of an electrical current, which means that the ionic carriers of electricity find difficulty in getting through this membrane.

"On the other hand, its electric capacity, that is, its ability to store up electrical energy, is high. Thus an electrical current can pass into (or out from) a nerve fiber without causing it to lose any of its dissolved salts which are essential to the life of the cell. Work is now in progress to determine the change, if any, in these properties when the nerve is in a state of excitation."

Soviet Geologists Find New Mineral Deposits

MOSCOW.—More than 800 geological parties have been in the field exploring Soviet Russia's mineral resources and crustal structure.

Half of them mapped the layers of the earth, while 80 were engaged in exploration. Other parties surveyed deposits already discovered.

Discovery of large deposits of high grade borates in the Lake Inder district is expected to free the Soviet Union from dependence in this respect upon foreign countries. New deposits of coal, lead and zinc ores, rare metal ores and bromine-containing salt were also reported.

Lots of Variety in Crocheted Edgings

Pattern 1300

Wonderfully dainty edgings, the laciest of borders, can roll off your crochet hook if you have pattern 1300. You can crochet an inexpensive bit of dress-up for collar and cuff set, lingerie, hankies, towels, sheets, cases and napkins. The top edging simulates tatting but is easier and quicker to do. Even a beginner will find this pattern simple to follow. Pattern 1300 contains detailed directions for making the edgings shown; illustrations of them and of all stitches used; material requirements.

Send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) for this pattern to The Sewing Circle, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Ave., New York, N. Y.

THE OTHER WOMAN LIVES JUST AROUND THE CORNER

IT may seem unreasonable, but most men cannot understand why a woman who is usually happy and loving should have recurring periods when her whole character seems changed. He cannot appreciate the distress, the discomfort that all women must endure. He does not know what it is to do housework with an aching back and failing energy. All he does know is that other women seem more cheerful by comparison.

Are you such a three-quarter wife?

Don't let the ordeals that all women face cause you avoidable discomfort or endanger your home. Do as so many wise women have—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife; take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Bedtime Story for Children

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE FARMER AND HIS WIFE ARE IN DESPAIR

THE farmer who owned the big barn where the rats had lived was puzzled. After a few days he became sure that there wasn't a rat left in the big barn. He knew that they had all moved to the farmhouse. They had been bad enough when they had lived in the big barn, but they were ever so much worse living in his house. He knew that rats did not move like this without a cause. This meant that they must have been driven out of the big barn, and who or what could have driven them out was more than the farmer could guess. For years he had tried to get rid of the rats there and hadn't been able to. Now suddenly they had deserted the big barn and taken possession of his house.

"I wish," said the farmer, "I could find out what drove those rats over here. Then perhaps I could use the same means to drive them out of the house."

"I wish you could," replied his wife. "I don't know what we're going to do. Those rats are getting so bold that they don't pay any attention to me at all. They run across the pantry floor in broad daylight. The only way I can keep food safe from them is in tin cans or earthen jars with covers and they have managed even to get the covers off some of these. They get in the flour barrel. They have spoiled the milk; they have stolen the eggs; in fact, there isn't anything they haven't got into. They keep me awake nights by their squealing and racing about through the walls. They're getting so bold that I'm actually afraid of them."

So the farmer set all his traps. He set traps in the attic and in the pantry and in the woodshed. He put poisoned food where he was sure the rats would find it. But it was all in vain. Those rats had learned all about traps, and the gray old leader of them had learned to be suspicious of food left where it was easy to get. He warned the other rats not to touch this food. The farmer blocked up the holes in the pantry walls, but as fast as he blocked them up the rats gnawed new ones.

So it was that the farmer and his wife were in despair. Do what they would, they couldn't get rid of those rats. The rats got into the cellar and stole vegetables. It got so that the farmer's wife didn't dare go down to the cellar. She was afraid of being bitten by a rat, and you know the bite of a rat is often poisonous.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

HERE are several recipes that it will pay you to try out.

Sweet Cider Jelly.

Before the sweet cider has grown sour prepare a few glasses of this delightful jelly: Measure one quart of sweet apple cider, add seven and one-half cupfuls of sugar, stir and bring to a boil. Add one cupful of pectin, bring to a boil and boil hard for one minute. Remove and let stand one minute, skim and pour into jelly glasses. Cover the hot jelly with a thin layer of paraffin, then when cold cover with another layer, and there will be no air spaces to spoil the jelly. This recipe makes about eleven glasses of jelly.

Dixie Cake.

Take one and one-half cupfuls of granulated sugar, one-half cupful of shortening, cream together, then add one cupful of fresh coconut milk and grated coconut. Add three cupfuls of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one teaspoonful of salt, add one-half teaspoonful of grated lemon peel and two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs and bake in a well oiled loaf pan.

Appetizing Salad.

On a bed of crisp fresh watercress or lettuce lay three slices of tomato. Sprinkle this generously with chopped sour pickle, celery hearts and sweet peppers, using the same amount of each. Add your favorite dressing and place a small sweet pickle on top of each. This is particularly good with steak or fowl.

Pineapple is most delicious with all kinds of meats. With chicken breasts with currant jelly and butter it not only makes a garnish but a most delightful sauce as well. Use the pineapple juice in the gravy and add a bit of the fruit, too, to the brown gravy.

DOES "MAKE UP" HELP A GIRL MAKE A HIT WITH HER EMPLOYER?

FRANCES MAULE gives the following advice in her guidebook to working girls, (entitled "She Strives to Conquer"): "Crimson fingernails make you look snappy, young, up-to-the-minute. Yes. But—do the persons you are really concerned with impressing in the office really like them? Personally, I have never talked with an employer, a personnel director or an employment manager who did not regard them as probably the final and outstanding mark of bad taste." Miss Maule advises working girls to stick to conservative make-up if they want to make the boss think they are really worth something to his business. They like attractive employees, but they want them to look natural.

TIDIED UP

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THEY cleaned my desk, straight as a string,
While I was out of town,
And now I cannot find a thing
The place I put it down.
A pile of this, a pile of that,
I meant to do some day,
But now I don't know where they're at—
I didn't, anyway.

I used to burrow here and there
In search of that or this,
But now it isn't anywhere,
And that is what I miss.
I used to have to hunt for stuff;
A little time it took;
As if that weren't bad enough,
Now there's no place to look.

And yet already things begin
To clutter as before,
And ev'ry time the mail comes in
It adds a little more.
I've found my glasses, not the case,
I've lost my fountain pen,
It won't be long before the place
Will seem like home again.

THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

By Leicester K. Davis

© Public Ledger, Inc.

THE first, or nail, joint of the thumb indicates, as preceding lessons have shown, the kind and degree of its owner's will. While an accurate index of this quality of temperament is essential to a correct analysis of character through study of the hand, the amount of logic indicated must also be determined.

The Thumbs as an Index of Logic.

The second, or middle, joint of the thumb may be relied upon to tell us of this important complement of character. This element will clearly indicate its owner's love and powers of meditation, concentration and ability to think things out.

Length and symmetry and the prominence of the knuckle itself will make our conclusions reliable on this point. The length of the middle joint in its relation to that of the first, or nail, joint, should be carefully compared. If both are of even length there is every indication that the will is well controlled by sound judgment. If with this, the knuckle is unusually knotty or otherwise prominent, we have the man or woman who painstakingly and with greater - than - average amount of research studies every move in the game of life.

Coupled with a firm nail joint, this analytical and clear-thinking combination is one of the surest signs of the man or woman whose decisions and actions seldom call forth "I told you so's."

Dental Work at the Tokyo Zoo

"Daitaro," a hippopotamus at the Ueno zoo in Tokyo, Japan, who is very popular with the children, shown as his long canine teeth, which had troubled him, were shortened recently. It took twenty minutes to coax the hippo into position with his mouth open and forty-five minutes to saw off part of the two teeth; this including delays while the attendants fed him cabbage, his favorite dish, to increase his patience.

Simple, Practical Frocks

WHERE, oh where is the feminine wardrobe that wouldn't take on momentum through the addition of just these three simple, wearable frocks? Surely like the Model T, it would be hard to find. And the thrilling thing — the important feature — is that these frocks are planned and patterned exclusively for the modern woman who sews—for you, a member of The Sewing Circle.

Pattern 1914 is a house dress with a future. It is young and practical. The new notched collar, ending as it does in twin scallops below the yoke line, gives the waist front balance and brightness. The bodice is slightly fulled to make this a comfortable style to work in as well as one that is attractive to look at. The skirt is slim lined and simple—as you would have it. Use dimity, dotted swiss or gingham for this number. Designed for sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 35 inch material.

Pattern 1989 is the polite young model caught with its back this way, perhaps the better to show off the beautiful shoulders and chicest - of - chic descending lines. You'll run-up this frock in short order but you'll wear it endlessly and with that happy confidence which only a style with distinction can give. Make it of raspberry wool crepe and trim the collar, cuffs and hem with royal blue. Pattern 1989 comes in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 (32 to 42 bust). Size 16 requires 3 yards of 54 inch material with 5 yards of braid for trimming.

Pattern 1206 is a most attractive newcomer to the blouse 'n' skirt category. An alliance of this sort brings glamour and romance to the gay wearer. Gold or silver metallic cloth, or, perhaps shimmering satin for the blouse with a skirt of velvet will make a million dollar outfit. Make it yours in a couple of hours. It is available in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 (32 to 42 bust). Size 16 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material for the blouse and 2⅛ yards for the skirt. The blouse with long sleeves requires 2⅜ yards 39 inches wide.

A detailed sewing chart accompanies each pattern to guide you every step of the way.

Send for the Barbara Bell Fall and Winter Pattern Book containing 100 well - planned, easy - to-make patterns. Exclusive fashions for children, young women, and matrons. Send fifteen cents in coins for your copy.

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 149 New Montgomery Ave., San Francisco, Calif. Patterns 15 cents (in coins) each.

BILLION DOLLAR "IFS"

"If" is universally admitted to be the biggest word in the dictionary, in any language, but it is safe to say that the world never saw any billion dollar "ifs" until last week. The nation will have a balanced budget, the administration announced, for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, if you don't count debt retirement costs, if not more than $1,853,-154,000 is needed for relief, and if Congress does not cut any taxes or increase expenditures. But despite these "ifs," the largest of which is the proposed slash of a billion dollars in relief spending, the budget message was not unfavorably received in quarters most concerned about government economy. Soon after it was read, stock prices began a slow rally on Wall Street.

heavy rain, when a car driven by a man later identified as Robert Dawson approached from the rear and sounded his horn for the right of way. Hayden said he held to the center of the road for fear of running over Furch.

The police officers failed to see Furch and drove past the high school, the scene where the man was said to have been. At that point, Hayden told police, Dawson cut to the right of his car. Hayden said he heard a noise and started in pursuit of Dawson, finally stopping him several blocks away.

BODY FOUND

Hayden said he was attempting to tell Dawson of the accident when Officers Dalton and Sunderland arrived. The four returned to the high school and found the body.

Robert Dawson, 31, 370 Rio Verdi street, Bayshore, operator of the supposed death vehicle was released after being questioned by police. His car was impounded in the police garage pending further investigation.

CHAMPION VALLEY BALL CLUB TO BE HONORED AT HUGE RALLY

Prominent Magnates Will Address Visitacion Fans At Meeting

Baseball fans of Visitacion Valley will honor the championship team at a huge rally to be held at Visitacion Valley Community Center, 66 Raymond avenue, at 8 p. m. Monday of next week.

Morris Sweeney, president of the Recreation League, will present the players with the awards for winning the C Division Championship.

Short talks will be given by Charley Graham, president of the San Francisco Seals; J. Nealon, president of the Northern California Managers' Association; Geo. Allen, president of the Visitacion Valley Improvement Association; E. Restani, president of the Bon Vitas Club, Chas. Eisenhut, president of Visitacion Valley Community Center.

An entertaining program has been arranged to round out the evening, including boxing and musical presentations.

BRIGHT FUTURE

"Judging from the way the Visitacion Valley baseball team has been going since the start of the season, there is no telling how many games they will win before the year is out," said Daniel Harrington, team advisor on July 1936.

Starting the year with a group of boys who had never played Sunday baseball before, the Valley team has gone to the top by winning the C Division of the San Francisco Recreation League in a most convincing manner with 11 wins and no defeats.

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

Everywhere the Visitacion team played they brought credit to the district by their friendly and sportsman-like conduct. Not only as winners did the Visitacion Club show the right spirit, but also when the cause looked hopeless in the 8th inning with the Olympic Hotel and the locals were trailing 6 to 1. They did not give up and finally came through with a rally that moved 8 runs across the plate.

The team hitting honors of the League went to the Valley when 8 regulars hit 312 or better.

studio in San Mateo, the Masonic hall at Ellsworth and Tilton streets, Pacific City and the Belmont Legion hall.

The signal corps, which has received national distinction for its radio work, comprises 140 men and 10 trucks, and meets regularly twice a month.

Guest of the evening was State Department Commander Thomas J. Riordan, who declared the department will push a campaign for a "fair and strict" neutrality law. Expressing elation over the "apparent co-operation between South American countries and the United States in the present crisis, Riordan said a vigorous drive will be made for the universal conscription act.

This law, he declared would draft, in case of war, not only man power but also industry, finance, transportation and agriculture. The object, he said, is to end war by removing the profit motive.

The district group last night went on record as favoring the following: an end to the 3 per cent state sales tax on materials to be used in government subsidized shipbuilding, to promote development of Pacific Coast shipyards; the 1937 President's ball, and the annual Shrine East-West football game. District Commander C. H. Whitney presided.

POINT SAN PEDRO ROCKAWAY BEACH

A request for local news in Rockaway was met with the flippant remark, "It rained here last week." And in Pedro and Vallemar, too. Don't forget your umbrella, by the way—you might need it.

They say that Mrs. Jennie Bicknell knows every car within miles and miles around, and she can recognize them on the run. And here's a bunch of bright orchids to her for many kindnesses.

Ted Bailey, who was temporarily obscured by a bad cold, has struggled to his feet again and is once more hitting on all-six with his customary vigor and audacity. His mother says he was so sick that it was a toss-up whether she would prepare mush for his breakfast, or phone the florist for roses.

* * *

Dr. Wm. L. Shawk, of Rockaway, had a business call from E. R. Spear and wife, general state agent of Arizona for Dodge cars. The visit was made to urge Dr. Shawk to consent to lease some land in Phoenix owned by him.

Mickey Murray of Rockaway, worker on the new coast highway project, suffered a heart attack last Thursday, while riding in a truck, and fell out on the road. He died instantly. Murray was well liked by his associates.

The intense freezing cold of the past week put plumbing out of commission on the Pedro hill. Residents farther down the hill were fortunate in escaping the winter stoppage of pipes, so unusual in this locality. It was only the stoutest roof that resisted the heavy rains.

The Pedro Valley Water Company has established a local business office on Grand avenue, in what remains of the old Robby country home.

Bud Henderson, who spent the holidays with his wife and family at Rockaway, has been called to New Mexico to work on a building project. On a Christmas fishing trip with his wife Bud caught six fine steelheads that all-told, weighed 48 pounds.

George Olmo spent an entire morning installing an extra length of pipe to take care of a spring leak that threatened to make a lake of the road near his house, and had the annoyance of seeing a heavy car drive by on the wrong side of the road before the work had hardened and wreck the mended part, pipe and all. Things like this test both temper and patience, sez we.

Mrs. Mildred Simmons and her sister had a day in town together last week. Little Casino is busy planning novelties for his garden as soon as spring arrives. Our guess is that he will be so occupied in beautifying other people's gardens in Pedro, that he won't find any too much time for his own.

The broad field of artichokes that Maracci has tended with such care had a setback when the frost swooped down and wilted some of the plants. But the rain, together with a slight rise in temperature, helped to bring them back to normal.

Mrs. Eskenberry, who was ill during the holidays, is well and about again. The Hector Martins were visitors here recently. If the rain doesn't soon quit, Harry R. will have to teach his riding horses to swim. The flat meadow edging the highway would be a good place to establish a sort of Venice with gondolas punting around. If it gets much moister hereabout, the motor cars will have to wear paddles. Now you tell one!

* * *

Mrs. Wallace, ill with the flu, was obliged to be absent from school several days. Until this time she has never missed a day for twelve years! That's a record.

Somebody suggests in a soft whisper, "Where does Jim Troglia get those fancy feathers that adorn his hat?"

Now don't blame me for these impudent remarks. I don't make them up. I only set them down in this column because they seem to be part of the local scenery. Local color, you might call them.

Record Cold Wave Blankets Coast With Snow

Snow—a rare treat for thousands of West Coast residents—recently blanketed the coastal apron when a renewed cold wave brought sub-zero temperatures. Many Northern California communities that had not experienced snow for more than a decade were isolated by white mantles. A shivering cameraman took this winter picture near Lake Lagunitas, Marin County—in the heart of "sunny California"!

FUNDS FOR CHARITY

Of funds derived from the sale of tickets to the annual dance, 70 per cent remains in San Mateo county for treatment of infantile paralysis and other simular diseases. Last year, with an attendance of about 2500 persons, a total of $1300 was allotted the county for this work.

Thirty per cent of the funds go to the federal government for the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundation to fight infantile paralyss.

Tanforan ballroom, which has been newly redecorated and enlarged, was chosen for the affair because of the large and spacious floor, its excellent heating system and ample parking space.

Mayors C. A. Buck of Burlingame, Frank P. Simmen of San Mateo and P A. McCarthy of Redwood City are arranging for an orchestra and entertainment. Mayor William I. Farmer of San Bruno was delegated to handle ballroom arrangements and American Legion members will be named as floor managers.

COUNTY WIDE SUPPORT

With nearly all county units, including the county-wide American Legion chapter, endorsing the birthday ball, the following statement was issued by the arrangements committee, composed of all mayors of county cities:

"Resolved by the committee for the President's Birthday Ball, consisting of J. V. Gaffey, chairman, and the mayors of all cities in San Mateo county, and prominent citizens representing the coastside and other unincorporated areas, that

"Whereas, the President's Brthday Ball has become the outstanding charitable event of the county; and,

"Whereas, by combining the efforts of all sections of the county the ball can be made even greater than ever before;

"Now, therefore, this committee unanimously indorses the holding of one President's Birthday Ball for all of San Mateo County and calls upon all citizens of the county to support this worthy cause."

Bayshore Highway Speeders Fined

Fining 34 motorists a total of $298.50 when they appeared in his court, Tuesday morning of this week, Judge W. H. Dinning of South San Francisco took a determined step in an attempt to reduce San Mateo County highway traffic toll.

The stiffest fine was assessed John F. Steindler, prominent Hillsborough resident, who paid $25 for speeding 55 miles an hour on Bayshore highway and for failing to appear in court when originally cited. A warrant was finally issued for his arrest.

Leon Terreo, Piedmont socialite, forfeited $25 bail for speeding 62 miles an hour.

Twenty-nine other motorists, cited for speeding during the past week, either wrote or phoned the court to explain their reason for non-appearance. Sixty-three motorists have been arrested during the past ten days.

Forty cited over the week end will appear before Judge Dinning today.

The Garden Murder Case

CHAPTER I

There were two reasons why the terrible and, in many ways, incredible Garden murder case—which took place in the early spring following the spectacular Casino murder case—was so designated. In the first place, the scene of this tragedy was the penthouse home of Professor Ephraim Garden, the great experimental chemist of Stuyvesant university; and secondly, the exact situs criminis was the beautiful private roof-garden over the apartment itself.

It was both a peculiar and implausible affair, and one so cleverly planned that only by the merest accident—or perhaps, I should say a fortuitous intervention—was it discovered at all.

The Garden murder case involved a curious and anomalous mixture of passion, avarice, ambition and horse-racing. There was an admixture of hate, also; but this potent and blinding element was, I imagine, an understandable outgrowth of the other factors.

The beginning of the case came on the night of April 13. It was one of those mild evenings that we often experience in early spring following a spell of harsh dampness, when all the remaining traces of winter finally capitulate to the inevitable seasonal changes. There was a mellow softness in the air, a sudden perfume from the burgeoning life of nature—the kind of atmosphere that makes one lackadaisical, and wistful and, at the same time, stimulates one's imagination.

I mention this seemingly irrelevant fact because I have good reason to believe these meteorological conditions had much to do with the startling events that were imminent that night and which were to break forth, in all their horror, before another 24 hours had passed.

And I believe that the season, with all its subtle innuendoes, was the real explanation of the change that came over Vance himself during his investigation of the crime. Up to that time I had never considered Vance a man of any deep personal emotion, except in so far as children and animals and his intimate masculine friendships were concerned. He had always impressed me as a man so highly mentalized, so cynical and impersonal in his attitude toward life, that an irrational human weakness like romance would be alien to his nature. But in the course of his deft inquiry into the murders in Professor Garden's penthouse, I saw, for the first time, another and softer side of his character. Vance was never a happy man in the conventional sense; but after the Garden murder case there were evidences of an even deeper loneliness in his sensitive nature.

As I have said, the case opened—so far as Vance was concerned with it—on the night of April 13. John F-X. Markham, then district attorney of New York county, had dined with Vance at his apartment in East Thirty-eighth street. The dinner had been excellent—as all of Vance's dinners were—and at ten o'clock the three of us were sitting in the comfortable library.

Vance and Markham had been discussing crime waves in a desultory manner. There had been a mild disagreement, Vance discounting the theory that crime waves are calculable, and holding that crime is entirely personal and therefore incompatible with generalizations or laws.

It was in the midst of this discussion that Currie, Vance's old English butler and majordomo, appeared at the library door. I noticed that he seemed nervous and ill at ease as he waited for Vance to finish speaking; and I think Vance, too, sensed something unusual in the man's attitude, for he stopped speaking rather abruptly and turned.

"What is it, Currie? Have you seen a ghost, are there burglars in the house?"

"I have just had a telephone call, sir," the old man answered, endeavoring to restrain the excitement in his voice.

"Not bad news from abroad?" Vance asked sympathetically.

"Oh, no, sir; it wasn't anything for me. There was a gentleman on the phone—"

Vance lifted his eyebrows and smiled faintly.

"A gentleman, Currie?"

"He spoke like a gentleman, sir. He was certainly no ordinary person. He had a cultured voice, sir, and—"

"Since your instinct has gone so far," Vance interrupted, "perhaps you can tell me the gentleman's age?"

"I should say he was middle-age or perhaps a little beyond," Currie ventured. "His voice sounded mature and dignified and judicial."

"Excellent!" Vance crushed out his cigarette. "And what was the object of this dignified, middle-aged gentleman's call? Did he ask to speak to me or give you his name?"

A worried look came into Currie's eyes as he shook his head.

"No, sir. That's the strange part of it. He said he did not wish to speak to you personally, and he would not tell me his name. But he asked me to give you a message. He was very precise about it and made me write it down word for word and then repeat it. And the moment I had done so he hung up the receiver." Currie stepped forward. "Here's the message, sir."

Vance took it and nodded a dismissal. Then he adjusted his monocle and held the slip of paper under the light of the table lamp. Markham and I both watched him closely, for the incident was unusual, to say the least. After a hasty reading of the paper he gazed off into space, and a clouded look came into his eyes. He read the message again, with more care, and sank back into his chair.

Markham Snorted, "That May Make Sense to You."

"My word!" he murmured. "Most extr'ordin'ry. It's quite intelligible, however, don't y' know. But I'm dashed if I can see the connection . . . "

Markham was annoyed. "Is it a secret?" he asked testily. "Or are you merely in one of your Delphic-oracle moods?"

Vance glanced toward him contritely.

"Forgive me, Markham. My mind automatically went off on a train of thought. Sorry—really." He held the paper again under the light. "This is the message that Currie so meticulously took down: 'There is a most disturbing psychological tension of Professor Ephraim Garden's apartment, which resists diagnosis. Read up on radioactive sodium. See Book XI of the Aeneid, line 875, Equanimity is essential.' . . . Curious—eh, what?"

"It sounds a little crazy to me," Markham grunted. "Are you troubled much with cranks?"

"Oh, this is no crank," Vance assured him. "It's puzzlin', I admit; but it's quite lucid."

Markham sniffed skeptically.

"What, in the name of Heaven, have a professor and sodium and the Aeneid to do with one another?"

Vance was frowning as he reached into the humidor for one of his beloved cigarettes with a deliberation which indicated a mental tension. Slowly he lighted the cigarette. After a deep inhalation he answered.

"Ephraim Garden, of whom you surely must have heard from time to time, is one of the best-known men in chemical research in this country. Just now, I believe, he's professor of chemistry at Stuyvesant university—that could be verified in Who's Who. But it doesn't matter. His latest researches have been directed along the lines of radioactive sodium. An amazin' discovery, Markham. Made by Doctor Ernest O. Lawrence, of the University of California, and two of his colleagues there, Doctors Henderson and McMillan. This new radioactive sodium has opened up new fields of research in cancer therapy—indeed, it may prove some day to be the long-looked-for cure for cancer. The new gamma radiation of this sodium is more penetrating than any ever before obtained. On the other hand, radium and radioactive substances can be very dangerous if diffused into the normal tissues of the body and through the blood stream.

"That is all very fascinating," Markham commented, sarcastically. "But what has it to do with you, or with trouble in the Garden home? And what could it possibly have to do with the Aeneid? They didn't have radioactive sodium in the time of Aeneas."

"Markham, old dear, I'm no Chaldean. I haven't the groggiest notion wherein the situation concerns either me or Aeneas, except that I happen to know the Garden family slightly. But I've a vague feeling about that particular book of the Aeneid. As I recall, it contains one of the greatest descriptions of a battle in all ancient literature. But let's see . . . "

Vance rose quickly and went to the section of his book-shelves devoted to the classics, and, after a few moments' search, took down a small red volume and began to riffle the pages. He ran his eye swiftly down a page near the end of the volume and after a minute's perusal came back to his chair with the book, nodding his head comprehensively, as if in answer to some question he had inwardly asked himself.

"The passage referred to, Markham," he said after a moment, "is not exactly what I had in mind. But it may be even more significant. It's the famous onomatopoeic Quadrupedumque putrem cursu quatit ungula campum—meanin', more or less literally: "And in their galloping course the horsehoof shakes the crumbling plain."

Markham took the cigar from his mouth and looked at Vance with undisguised annoyance.

"You're merely working up a mystery. You'll be telling me next that the Trojans had something to do with this professor of chemistry and his radioactive sodium."

"No, oh, no." Vance was in an unusually serious mood. "Not the Trojans. But the galloping horses perhaps."

Markham snorted. "That may make sense to you."

"Not altogether," returned Vance, critically contemplating the end of his cigarette. "There is, nevertheless, the vague outline of a pattern here. You see, young Floyd Garden, the professor's only offspring, and his cousin a puny chap named Woode Swift—he's quite an intimate member of the Garden household, I believe—are addicted to the ponies. Quite a prevalent disease, by the way, Markham. They're both interested in sports in general—probably the normal reaction to their professorial and ecclesiastical forebears: young Swift's father, who has now gone to his Maker, was a D.D. of sorts. I used to see both young Johnnies at Kinkaid's Casino occasionally. But the galloping horses are their passion now. And they're the nucleus of a group of young aristocrats who spend their afternoons mainly in the futile attempt to guess which horses are going to come in first at the various tracks."

Burgos, "First City" of Rebel Spain, Has Intriguing History

Venerable Place Was Once the Capital of Old Castile.

Burgos, "capital" of rebel Spain, while new to the ears of present-day observers, has played an important part in the Spain of the past, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Burgos, with only 32,000 inhabitants, rises from the heart of a rolling plateau about 130 miles due north of Madrid," continues the bulletin.

"As capital of the province of Burgos, it was normally a quiet city which the hard-working farmers, shepherds and foresters in the province used as their market place. Irrigated fields form green patchwork along the valley of the Arlanzon river, but much of the district surrounding the city is arid and barren like parts of the tableland of Mexico. Where water is available, however, good crops thrive—chiefly grains and chick peas.

Once Capital of Old Castile.

"While Burgos may have no boast as to high rank among urban centers on the Iberian peninsula, it is rich in history and in architectural treasures. Until 1087, when the royal residence was moved to Toledo, it was the capital of Old Castile. It is hinted that the crumbling castle above the city is one of the main reasons for the name of Castile.

"Even after the transfer of the royal residence, Burgos was still the scene of much royal pomp, splendor, and treachery. Several kings were crowned there, and some were born within its walls. Perhaps Burgos' most notorious son was King Pedro the Cruel, who was reputed to decorate his rooms with the heads of his victims.

Columbus Welcomed Here.

"Columbus, returning from his second expedition to the fabled New World, was welcomed by Fernando and Isabella in that palatial residence of old Burgos, the Casa de Cordon. The building still spreads its stone front across one side of the Plaza de Libertad.

"Royal marriages attracted to Burgos the pageantry of medieval chivalry from more than one nation. England sent a Twelfth-century princess there to become a Spanish queen, and later came an English king and a French duke to claim Spanish wives.

City Is Battle Scarred.

"In Burgos was born El Cid, the national hero of Spain in the struggle to reconquer the country from the Moors. The hilltop castle, then a magnificent stronghold, was the scene of his marriage to Ximena, who is buried with him in the Cathedral. One of the town's saddest days was that of their hero's return, when all doors were closed against him by the jealous king's command, and the grieving populace had to do their hero-worshiping silently from their windows.

"Remnants of warlike days survive in the city. The castle, demolished by the French after it had successfully resisted the forces of the mighty Wellington, flaunts its ruins from the hill. Four fortified gates remain, as well as a pleasant walkway, called the Paseo de los Cubos, the Promenade of the Tubs, because it passes a row of tublike circular bastions of the old wall.

"On the outskirts of Burgos stands the convent of Las Huelgas, to which only noble women were admitted. Its abbess for 500 years ranked second only to the queen of Spain, and had power of life and death, 'the gallows and the knife,' over all who came within her jurisdiction."

The Past

IT IS because so much of the past still exists in our lives that it is so dear to us . . . These are compensations for the [illegible] and fresh impressions; and one learns little by little that a thing is not over because it is not happening with noise and shape or outward sign; its roots are in our hearts; and every now and then they send forth a shoot which blossoms and bears fruits still. —Anne Ritchie.

Great minds erect their never-failing trophies on the firm base of mercy.—Massinger.

Fillmore, "Luxury-Loving Monster," Brought in Tub

Uncritical writers are fond of observing that Millard Fillmore was the most uninspiring and least impressive of all Presidents. But he did one big thing for the country. He introduced the bathtub to official and polite society.

Eighty-five years ago, a Cincinnati merchant imported one from England and Fillmore had a chance at it, and then he ordered the war department to call for bids. In 1851 the White House bathtub was installed and Fillmore was denounced as an unholy plutocrat, a luxury-loving monster!—Tulsa World.

GROUND GRIP TIRES

GROUND GRIP TIRES bring a new freedom to the farmer—freedom to go anywhere, any time, in any weather. No longer do bad roads, snow and thaws mean isolation.

In deep snow, mud or sand, Firestone Ground Grip Tires go right through without spinning or stalling — you can always get to town.

The Firestone Ground Grip Tire was developed to overcome the difficulties of winter transportation on the farm. Firestone engineers, working under the personal direction of Harvey S. Firestone on his Columbiana, Ohio, farm, tested and proved the Ground Grip Tire under the worst possible weather and road conditions. This tire is so different in design and so superior in performance that a patent on it was issued by the United States Patent Office. The heavy rubber lugs of the tread are without equal for traction. They take hold and keep going where other tires get stuck — and you don't need chains.

Don't let bad roads and bad weather keep you isolated this winter. See your nearby Firestone Implement Dealer, Firestone Tire Dealer or Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store today.

the expansion move. Trustee board members thanked the supervisors for their co-operation in speeding along the merger proceedure, and by so doing clear up the uncertainty as to the area and number of potential students the college is to serve.

CALLSEN APPOINTED

Dr. F. P. Callsen, Daly City dentist, was appointed a member of the County Planning Commission to represent district No. 1. Callsen replaces Victor Boido of South San Francisco, whose term expired recently.

PIATT RECOMMENDED

Recommendation of Controller Ed Stack that C. E. Piatt, San Mateo accountant, be engaged to install modern methods of bookkeeping and costkeeping in the county departments was held over for consideration of the finance committee after Supervisor James declared the work might entail a considerable outlay.

The supervisors filed the resolution of the San Mateo County Press Association urging use of press passes and press privileges for county affairs be restricted to persons actually engaged in newspaper work.

A proposed agreement between the state and county to engage a child welfare worker part time at $100 monthly cost to the state and office space and traveling expenses to the county, was held up for the health director's recommendation.

Valley Players To Meet College

Well known athletes who have made history in San Francisco high schools will represent Visitacion Valley in the basketball game with the junior college varsity today.

Members of the Valley team have played all-city basketball. They are Yotse Klotovich, team captain, from Mission High School; Benny Barozoto, also from Mission High; Mike Klotovich and Bill Fassler, members of last year's Mission High School team. The fifth man on the team is John Klotovich who played both basketball and football for the Olympic Club. Other members of the roster are Harold Follmer, Balboa; Harold Herger, Commerce, and Pete Jambruno of San Francisco Junior College.

Odds and Ends

Believe it or not, the new play now in rehearsal is "Believe It Or Not" a sparkling comedy, which is being whipped into shape at the Visitacion Valley Community Center.

Fred Enderlin, whose productions in the past have set a standard for the Little Theater movement in San Francisco, is directing the play.

Death at the Wheel

by DON AMES

ARTICLE SIX

In a recent edition of one of the San Francisco daily papers, I read that a driver, Donald R. Baumrucker, was awarded the National Safety Council medal for having operated a vehicle for one year without an accident. The newspaper presented Baumrucker a bonus.

Although medals and bonuses should serve to encourage safe driving, I believe that such action is quite foolish. In the first place, all people who operate automobile vehicles should exercise utmost care while operating them. After a person drives, say forty years without a mishap, he is entitled to recognition as a deciple of traffic safety rules.

Still, I am of the opinion that that kind of driver is as rare as the mythical hen's teeth.

I heard a radio program not so long ago on traffic safety. The speaker said "a good driver does not have accidents." That statement may be a little off color, depending on how you judge a good driver. But the rule will hold true in most cases. A good driver shouldn't have accidents.

As a parting shot at the conclusion of this series of articles, "Death at the Wheel," may I say, "Safe driving pays big dividends."

San Bruno Resident Entertains Club

Mrs. L. W. Preston entertained her sewing club at tea, Tuesday afternoon of this week.

Guests were Mrs. E. C. Bannister, Mrs. C. W. Barcus, Mrs. R. Day, Mrs. W. Grant, Mrs. H. Hillman and Mrs. H. Stern. Due to illness Mrs. M. Grush was unable to attend.

Banner Goes To Holbrook Class

The banner given each month for the largest attendance of mothers at the Brisbane P. T. A. meetings was won by Mrs. Ernestine Holbrook's class.

Teachers and mothers are brought together informally at P. T. A. meetings to discuss child education. All local mothers are invited to attend the meetings.

EXECUTIVE

mas to spend the winter with their daughter and son in law.

BLINDED BY RAIN

The four were returning home after visiting in Oakland when the accident occurred on the upper span of the bridge between the toll plaza and Yerba Buena island during a blinding rain and wind storm shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday night.

According to police, the westbound coupe which DeGolia was driving crowded over into the eastbound lane and crashed head-on with Doonan's car. Both machines careened wildly over the wet asphalt and crashed into guard rails.

State highway patrol officers closed the traffic on the upper span until the wreckage was cleared.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. Doonan were taken to the Berkeley Hospital where Meyer succumbed to head injuries. DeGolia and Miss Healey, who was riding in his car, were taken to San Francisco Central Emergency Hospital. DeGolia was president of Printing Plates, Inc., of Oakland.

Election Held By Townsend Club

New officers elected for the San Bruno Townsend Club are George Sellich, president; Conrad Orre, vice president; L. M. Hawkins, secretary; L. Wackerman, treasurer; Mrs. O. Orchard, refreshment committee chairman.

Future meetings will be held the first and third Thursday evenings of each month at the Community M. E. Church instead of N. D. Hall.

DOPE PEDDLER SHOT

Swinging into effect late last week the new Chinese law providing the death penalty for peddlers and addicts of narcotic drugs claimed its first victim at Peiping.

Lu Luh-Sin, a peddler, was seized at the city gate, led away and shot.

Valley Improvement Club Installation

Installation of officers of the Visitacion Valley Improvement Club was held, Monday evening of this week, at the W. O. W. hall. All incumbent officers were re-elected.

Fred Detlmeir, acting chairman, introduced the guest speakers, among whom were Judge Frank Dunn, Thomas Foley, Twain Michaelson and George Schoenfeld.

Judge Dunn, in his usual witty manner, conducted the installation with a gracious and appropriate word of praise and congratulation to each officer upon his re-election. Officers installed were president, George H. Allen; vice president, Charles Eisenhut; recording secretary, Mrs. Catharine Coleman; financial secretary, George Bawman; treasurer, Miss Gertrude White; sergeant at arms, Frank Calverly.

A clever program of Chinese music, songs, tap dances and piano presentations followed the installation ceremonies.
